PHP Webpages Plan:

Index.php Plan:

     This webpage I plan to make a landing page where all of the links of the other webpages will be. I will plan to just have a title something along the lines of "LPD Crime Reports Landing Page". Then below it six buttons that link to the other webpages. In the code itself I will establish a connection with the server and the styling will be done with bootstrap classes.

page1.php Plan:

     For this webpage I plan to display the results of my 1st SQL query which will be the most frequent crimes that occur. The results will be displayed in a table format and the columns will be "Crime Description" and "Total Reports". The styling of the Title on the page and the table will be done using bootstrap classes.

page2.php Plan:

     For this webpage I plan to display the results of the 2nd SQL query which will be the number of incidents reported in each area in the LAPD district. The results will be displayed in a table format and the columns of the table will be "Area Number", "Area Name", and "Total Incidents". The styling of the title header and the table will be done with bootstrap components.

page3.php Plan:

     For this webpage I plan to display the results of the 3rd SQL query which will be a list of all the mocodes that were never used in an incident report. The results of this query will be displayed in a table format and the columns of information will be "Mocodes" and "Description". The styling of the table and header title will be done with bootstrap components.

page4.php Plan:

     For this webpage I will display the results of the 4th SQL query which will be the monthly crime count per reporting district. The results will be displayed in a table format and the columns will be "District Number", "Associated Area Name", "Month", and "Total Incidents". The styling for the table and title header will be done with bootstrap classes.

page5.php Plan:

     For this webpage I will display the results of the 5th SQL query which will be a list of firearm related incidents. The results will be displayed in a table and the columns will be District "Incident Report Number", "Date Incident Occurred", "Weapon Description". The table and the title header will be formatted using bootstrap classes.

page6.php Plan:

For this webpage the results of the 6th query will be the number of Incidents that involve females and that the weapon description is a firearm in a month. The results will be displayed in a table and the columns will be "Month" and "Total Incidents". The title header and the table will be styled with bootstrap components.
